> MUSIC ON THE GUITAR.—The Union forces have in Missouri a Brigadier General by the name of Guitar. He served as a private in the Mexican war under Doniphan, and distinguished himself at the battle of Sacramento. Less than a year ago he raised a regiment of cavalry in Missouri, chiefly in Boone, Howard, Callaway, and Montgomery counties, and recently for dauntless bravery on the field-his success in killing, capturing and dispersing the rebels under Porter, Poindexter and other guerrilla chiefs, was made a Brigadier General. There is the ring of the true metal in Guitar; there is fight in Guitar; there is music in Guitar, and such music as the rebels don't like to hear. They had better, therefore, "touch lightly on the guitar."-Helena (Ark.) Shield
